ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

December 3, 2006

To Whom It May Concern,

I was Eurudice Prentoulis's supervising Assistant Principal from the time she came to teach French and Spanish at FLAGS High School in September, 2001 until my retirement in June, 2003. During that time, she proved to be a serious, energetic and motivational instructor, and she always held her students to high standards. Her lessons were always thoroughly and thoughtfully planned to provide her students with a variety of activities that addressed all of the language skills of listening, speaking, reading and writing, and she always assigned rigorous work in her classes. She engaged her students in interesting, interactive and communicative learning experiences that enabled them to learn language in meaningful and realistic situations. She treated her students with warmth and encouragement, and they all understood that she had their best interests at heart.

Ms. Prentoulis was an extremely hard worker and made every effort to fulfill any responsibility she was asked to accept. She was a cooperative staff member who got along well with her colleagues and was always willing to help other staff members and the students at the school. Since my retirement, I have maintained a friendship with this unique young woman. She is intelligent and interesting, and possesses a charming and most vivacious personality. She is devoted to her career as a teacher. She continues to be willing to learn from others and implement suggestions in order to improve her teaching skills.

We were fortunate to have Ms. Prentoulis teaching at FLAGS High School. She was a motivational, intelligent and talented addition to the teaching staff. Her international background, education and extensive travel have brought a unique multicultural perspective to her teaching. I have no doubt that she would be a dedicated and diligent staff member or participant in any program she enters.

Sincerely yours,

Marilyn Bach
Assistant Principal Supervision Emeritus, FLAGS High School
